Newham Council: Report Hate Crime and Incidents

WE ARE NEWHAM.

Stand Against Hate in Our Community

If you are a victim or witness of a hate crime or incident, it's crucial to speak up. Hate has no place in Newham, and together, we can work to eliminate it. Below are ways you can report hate crimes, seek advice, and receive support from organisations that specialise in addressing specific forms of hate.

In an Emergency
If you are in immediate danger, please call 999 for emergency assistance from the police.

Reporting a Hate Crime to the Police
If the incident does not require immediate attention, you can report it directly to the police by visiting your local station or contacting the non-emergency number 101.

Specialist Support and Resources

Newham Council is committed to fighting all forms of hate. Here are some resources to help victims report hate crimes, get advice, or seek support:

Islamophobia & Anti-Muslim Hate:
If you have experienced anti-Muslim hate, you can report it to the Islamophobia Response Unit or Tell MAMA, which provide specialist support.

Anti-Semitic Hate Incidents:
For incidents of anti-Semitic hate, you can report them to the Community Security Trust (CST), which protects the Jewish community.

LGBT+ Hate:
Victims of LGBT+ hate can make a referral to GALOP, a specialist organisation supporting those affected by abuse.

Gypsy, Roma, and Traveller Community:
If you are from the Gypsy, Roma, or Traveller community and have faced racism, you can report it through specific community support services.

All these support services are available online via the Newham Hate Crime webpage. You can access the full list of organisations and reporting options by visiting the www.newham.gov.uk/public-health-safety/hate-crime or scanning the QR code below.
